Pattern Synopsis

- The following instructions are included:
 - Basic Beanie Pattern; and
 - Pattern variations:
 - Different spacing of diamond flower motifs (V1)
 - Different filet pattern effects (V2, V3, V4)
 - Ribbed brim option (V4)
 - Messy bun/ pony tail option (V5)
- Worked right side always, in rounds, from top downwards.
- Composed of beginner worthy DC and Ch stitches.
- Basic Beanie Pattern is comprised of 18 rounds in total.
Rounds 1-8 are increase rounds. Rounds 9 onwards maintain the stitch count (with the exception of the diamond flower motifs).

Tips

- For best results, use a yarn that is composed of a fibre that yields good stitch definition (not overly soft or fluffy). I have mostly used 8 ply Cleckheaton Country Australian Wool. This is a reasonably thick 8 ply, so it may be compatible with some thinner 10 ply yarns.
- Use the recommended hook size as a guide only. My tension is reasonably loose and I have a 'Rider' Golden Loop style. Check if your gauge is close to the gauge documented in the Pattern Details. If it isn't, adjust either your tension or hook size, to meet the gauge.
- The beanie is an average women's size. To resize, adjust yarn ply/ hook size/ tension, and then work a 3 round swatch. You can approximately estimate the finished circumference by using the following formula: (Pattern Gauge Circumference/ Pattern Gauge 3rd Round Diameter) * Your 3rd Round Diameter (n). E.g. (53.5cm/7cm) * n cm - if n is 6.5 cm then finished circumference will be approximately 50 cm.
- When making the diamond flower motif rounds 2 and 3, for best results, stitch into the Ch stitches rather than over them.
- I recommend that for your first beanie you make the Basic Beanie Pattern, as this is the simplest pattern. Then try the more complex pattern options.

Changing Colours

Beanies can be made using yarn of one solid colour, variegated yarn, or with blocks of different colours. Work it your way. Change colours as frequently as preferred. Preferably join colours using a StndSt.

Abbreviations

Ch = Chain

Sp = Space

DC = Double Crochet

FpHDC = Front Post Half Double Crochet

SlSt = Slip Stitch

StndSt = Standing Stitch

Special Stitch Instructions - StndSt

Special stitch instructions for working a DC height equivalent Standing Stitch (StndSt) are provided below. This is worked at the start of a new round so that the seam is less obvious. Please note: there are a number of ways to work this stitch and I personally vary my method depending on the item I am making. If you already have a method that works for you, please substitute your preferred method where this stitch is referenced in the pattern instructions. If you prefer to 3 Ch, instead of using a standing stitch, please substitute 3 Ch for the StndSt throughout.

StndSt :

1. Ch 1 and then SC in same St the SlSt was made to finish the previous round.
2. Ch 1 and then SC in the front loop only of the SC made in step 1. Two SCs will have now been made on top of one another. Your stitch should be approximately the same height as a DC. If so, ignore step 3. If it is considerably shorter, go to step 3.
3. Ch 1 and then SC in the front loop only of the SC made in step 2. Your stitch should be the same height as a DC.

Pattern Instructions

Please note: For all patterns documented below, the SISt that finishes each round does not count as a stitch, for stitch count purposes, and as such, this stitch should not be worked into, in the subsequent round.

FINISHING ROUND (Optional)

SlSt as per Basic Beanie Pattern

OR (for a ribbed brim beanie as per Image 5) work the following steps. If the brim feels too loose, either go down a hook size, or loosen your tension.

1. Ch 7 then HDC in third chain from hook.
2. HDC in the remaining four chains.
3. SlSt into stitch one stitch anticlockwise along the edge of the beanie from the stitch that the Ch 7 originated from.
4. SlSt one further stitch anticlockwise.
5. Turn work and then FpHDC into each of the 5 HDC from Steps 1 and 2. (Do not chain before commencing FpHDC.)
6. Turn work, Ch 1⁴ and then FpHDC around each of the 5 HDCs.
7. SlSt into stitch one stitch anticlockwise along the edge of the beanie from the stitch that the SlSt in Step 4 was made.
8. SlSt one further stitch anticlockwise.
9. Repeat Steps 5 to 8 until brim is one HDC width shy of completion.
10. Repeat Steps 6 and 7.
11. To join the two seams of the ribbed brim (these should now be touching), either sew or SlSt along two seams.

Variant 5 (V5): Messy Hair Pony Tail/ Bun Beanie (Image 6)

You will need a small round elastic hair band (or double a regular sized hair elastic, as I have done for the beanie in Image 6).

Commence with joining the yarn around the hair elastic, then 2 Ch, and then work either 20 or 30 DCs over the hair elastic (depending on the size of the hair elastic) so that the entire elastic is covered. SlSt into the first DC (skip the 2 Ch).

If 20 DCs were made, skip the first two rounds of the Basic Beanie Pattern.

If 30 DCs were made, skip the first three rounds of the Basic Beanie Pattern.

Work the remaining rounds of either the Basic Beanie Pattern or any of the variants, as preferred.
